Author Ryan Estrada will visit AIU on December 6 for a discussion of the Banned Book Club. An artist, author, and adventurer, Estrada lives in Busan, Korea with his wife Hyun Sook, whose life experience is the inspiration for Banned Book Club. Set in 1980s Korea, the book depicts friendships among students living under an oppressive dictatorship that controls even what they read. Forming a banned book club, the students discover what it means to pursue freedom and to support one another.

“The messages of hope in Banned Book Club are universal. Change can happen when people speak up.”
